Auditor Queries Organizing Cost

No Authority For Payment Of $10 Per Day During Preliminary Activities Found By Robert Cheyne—Recommends That Question Of Such Payments Should Be Brought Before Delegates' Meeting—Total Of $3,306 Is Involved

That he can find no authority for the payment of $10 a day, in addition to hotel and travelling expenses to Messrs. Barrat, Haskins, and Hembling, during time spent in organization work prior to the launching of the present Tree Fruit Board scheme, is the statement of Robert Cheyne, who has audited the accounts and records of the Board, and whose findings have just been made public.

Payments on the per diem basis under the questioned category total $3,306, the auditor's report shows, with a portion of the amount being applicable in one instance to a period as far back as mid-summer in 1933.

"This payment should be submitted for approval at the next meeting of the delegates," Mr. Cheyne declares in his statement, which during the past week has been distributed to those grower-delegates who last November elected the three-man Board at Kelowna.

Mr. Cheyne takes exception, in his report, only to the per diem allowance. Hotel and travelling costs, in addition to the per diem allowances, totalled an extra $2,854 under the heading of organization expense. There was also a charge of $240 for Kootenay campaign expenses so that the total organization cost was $6,402.

The charges of the Board members individually are shown as follows: Mr. Barrat, Ottawa, trip from July 14 to September 1, 1934, 50 days at $10, and hotel and travelling costs of $516, and in valley from June 1 to July 13, 37 days at $10, and hotel and travelling costs of $21, making total of $1,407.

Mr. Haskins, Okanagan and Kootenay trips, June 1 to July 13, and July 14 to September 1, at Ottawa, 88 days at $10, and travelling and hotel costs of $597, making a total of $1,477.

Mr. Hembling, Kelowna, July 14 to September 1, 1934, 70 days at $10 and $491 travelling and hotel costs; Regina, July 24 to August 3, 1933, at $8 per day, and $283 costs; Ottawa, January 27 to March 26, 1934, at $8 per day, and $542 costs; and Ottawa, from May 5 to May 21, 1934, at $8 per day, and $335 costs; making a total in all of $3,276.

The sum of $472 was repaid by the Kelowna Export Board to cover costs incurred in its field.

Under the general heading of organization costs considerable discussion is now being heard, following the distribution of the auditor's statements to the delegates, and particularly in view of Mr. Cheyne's direct statement that there is no authority for the payment of the $10 per day to the members during the organization period.

There is also considerable reference to the payment of $8 per day to one of the members for activities at a time as far back as 1933. "Is he entitled to this just because he is now a member of the Board?" is the question being asked. "How about other who in times past have given of their time and money in the long drive to bring about a new marketing arrangement?"

Furthermore it is remembered that the Growers Stabilization Committee levied to the extent of $134,668 during the 14 months ending at December 31, 1934, of which sum salaries and travelling expenses accounted for $8,477, and some contend that all legitimate preliminary organization costs were covered under this levy.

Under the revenue and expenditure statement prepared by Mr. Cheyne, levies accounted for, at 2 cents a box, and one dollar a ton bulk, total $76,550. However, the sum of $7,093 is reported as having been collected additionally during April.

"The total number of boxes shipped to April 30, 1935, according to the cartel was 4,354,580 and hence the levies should approximate $87,091. There should be about $2,000 more to be recovered than is shown, the auditor states.

"I am informed," says the auditor, "that certain accounts for levies and equalization funds have not been set up as they are considered to be uncollectible and that the shippers in question have been released from the pools. A record of all exemptions should appear in the minutes of the Board.

"Levies of about $1,000 and assessments for equalization funds of over $8,500 shown as outstanding at March 31 are still unpaid at this date; no measures appear to have been taken to enforce payment of these levies, some of which are for substantial amounts."

Domestic licenses issued during the season totalled 100, and there were 50 export licenses.

The expenses of the delegates totalled $1,223, about half of which was for hotels and travelling at the time of the election convention.

Rental costs, involving operations in both Vernon and Kelowna, totalled $990.

Salaries, of $17,778, are made up as (Continued on Page 4, Col. 5)

LIEUT. GOVERNOR ENJOYS VISIT TO OKANAGAN VALLEY

His Honor Meets Vernon Citizens At Enjoyable Banquet Gathering

His Honor, J. W. Fordham-Johnson, Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia, paid his first visit to Vernon Wednesday, having come here and to the Okanagan in his official capacity in order to see the valley and to make the acquaintance of the citizens of this area.

Tendered a banquet in the evening in the National Ballroom when a number gathered to greet him on the occasion of his visit. His Honor in a brief address expressed his appreciation for the kindness which had been extended to him on his visit, his delightful reaction to the charm of the Okanagan, and his hopes for a return to vigorous and prosperous not only in this valley but elsewhere throughout the province.

His remarks were in response to the toast to British Columbia, which was proposed by the Hon. K. C. MacDonald, and followed his introduction by Mayor E. W. Prowse, the toast-master, who extended a warm civic welcome.

The Lieutenant-Governor arrived in this city at 12:40 p.m. by C.P.R. and was met at the station by prominent civic and governmental officials. At one o'clock a private luncheon party was held in the National Hotel.

His Honor next proceeded to the Central School where he presented Andrew Lim Yuen with the Governor-General's medal in a pleasing ceremony attended by the teachers and school children, and later in the afternoon he was taken for a drive around the district, going out to the Shuswap Falls Lodge where afternoon tea was served.

Following the banquet in the evening those who attended had the pleasure of meeting His Honor in an informal manner, the Lieutenant-Governor evidently enjoying chatting with those present.

Contributing to the pleasure of the banquet was the much appreciated singing of Miss Hilda Cryderman, and the selections played by the Vernon Ladies' Trio, Mrs. H. R. Denison, Mrs. R. A. Davidson, and Miss Elaine Jameson.

At 1:15 today, Thursday, the party will leave for Kelowna. The morning has been left more or less open, but is expected to include visits to the city houses, the crematorium, the Vernon Jubilee Hospital and other interesting places in the city.

Accompanying His Honor on the trip are his secretary, A. M. D. Fairbairn, and F. M. Rutter, of Vancouver, the assistant to the assistant general manager of the C.P.R.

HOME-MADE PLANE TAKES TO AIR IN SPLENDID STYLE

Saturday Evening Marked End Of Longity Job As First Flight Started

When Pilot Lowell Dunsmore lifted the wheels of the "home-made" airplane from the Vernon airport on Saturday evening on its first test flight, among the crowd on the ground there were at least three who, as they saw the plane ascending easily into the high, blue sky, must have heaved a sigh of relief.

For climbing into the blue sky was something that had occupied the thoughts of the small group on the ground for over a year, and in addition, must have given them many anxious moments as they encountered difficulties and yet more difficulties in the assembling of needed parts for their machine.

During the eight months of actual building, and the year or more in waiting for parts, the thing that kept them with their minds fixed on the construction of the machine was teamwork and co-operation. All the welding work on the steel frame was done by Ernie Buffam, while the other construction work was done by the team.

18-MONTHS-OLD CHILD DROWNED

Daniel McAstocker Found Dead In Creek North of Oliver

OLIVER, B.C., June 1.—Daniel McAstocker was drowned in a creek less than 75 yards from his home last Wednesday afternoon, May 29. Daniel was only a toddler of eighteen months, one of a family of five children of Mr. and Mrs. David McAstocker, who live two and a half miles north of Oliver. All the children are under school age, and they usually played together.

On the fateful day Daniel went off alone in search of new adventure. He found death in the shallow waters of the meandering creek. Following a 3-hour search by the frantic mother and neighbors the body was found in a foot of water.

Shortly after noon the mother missed the child and set out at once in search of him. None of the other children had seen the boy for some time. The neighbors were notified and soon a score of persons were searching for the missing lad. Examination by the doctor revealed that the body had been in the water about two hours.

Funeral services were held in Penitence Thursday afternoon, May 30.

All Attendance Records Are Broken at Annual Picnic at Dominion Experimental Farm

Over 3,500 People Enjoy Holiday Event At South Okanagan Centre

SUMMERLAND, B.C., June 3.—Exceeding all records in attendance with over 3,500 people present, and over 600 cars, the picnic held on Monday at the Dominion Experimental Station was eminently successful. The picnicking crowds scattered at the noon hour over the spacious lawns and enjoyed the beauty of the spot and the delights of a perfect summer day.

The Penitence Band played during the afternoon on the main lawns, and just near was the big tent with educational exhibits showing various things of timely interest. There were different pots of tomato plants showing experiments in mineral content of the soil. Glass cherries which had been prepared in different containers were shown, and also there were demonstrations and explanations by staff members regarding plant diseases such as drought spot, fire blight and powdery mildew.

The manufacturers' show was a new feature, and was an interesting one to many.

Many In Golf Contest

There were 160 entries in the golfing competition and Mrs. Alex Smith, of Summerland, won first prize for the ladies with a score of 52, after playing off with Mrs. George Henry, Summerland, who also had 52, and who took the second prize. Mrs. Cushing, of Penitence, was third with a score of 55. In the men's contest J. Lawler, Summerland, was first with 49 shots, and Dave Nesbitt, Penitence, second with 51, after playing off with Geo. Penty, Penitence, and Harry Williams, Summerland.

Summerland led in the softball game, of which the scores were: morning game, Summerland won from Penitence, 27-2; first afternoon game, (Continued on Page 9, Col. 3)

HAYDEN STRESSES PRIME NECESSITY OF CO-OPERATION

Only Flaw In Okanagan Picture Is Man-Made States Holiday Speaker

"The only flaw is man-made," said C. A. Hayden, editor of "Country Life in B.C.," in discussing living conditions in the Okanagan before a large crowd that attended the annual picnic at the Summerland Experimental Station on Monday, the King's Birthday.

Nature has been lavish in her contribution of the innumerable factors which go to make up agreeable living conditions in this valley. Mr. Hayden pointed out, but the fact remains that the grower has found it impossible to get the cost of production.

"The remedy lies in co-operation among the growers themselves. We are prone to be individualists. Farmers for countless ages have been individualists. They have thought that they were their own bosses and that they were independent. Times have changed. World competition has broadened in respect of natural products. Here in Canada we have felt the pinch because other countries with lower standards of living and consequent lower costs of production have invaded the markets we once enjoyed to our profit.

"The day of the individualist is past. Last Thursday at the convention of the West Kootenay Farmers' Institutes, I heard the president, E. B. Ballard, put it neatly. Said he, 'We used to boast of our rugged individualism. It wasn't rugged individualism. It was ragged individualism. This is not the time of competition—it is the time for co-operation.'

"And there you have the remedy for your economic ills. There is no other method by which you can achieve a decent standard of living, pay your debts, educate children and enjoy the comforts of life.

"This authority through one hundred per cent co-operation, not only within your own valley but within the area that comes under the jurisdiction of the B.C. Tree Fruit Board, the first to be set up in Canada, and throughout the other fruit and vegetable producing areas of Canada.

"Local co-operation is not sufficient. We have one concrete example of this in the setting up of the Dominion Fruit Export Board. To a word what the primary producer has to become now, through his marketing boards, is a cunning, expert merchandiser. It is not sufficient that he raise good fruit. He must learn (Continued on Page 4, Col. 4)

V.P.S. OBSERVES 21ST "BIRTHDAY"

Reunion of Former Schoolfellows Is Greatly Enjoyed In Coldstream

Commemorating the twenty-first year of the existence of the Vernon Preparatory School, 38 "Old Boys" coming from such widely separated points as Regina and Vancouver, took part in the first reunion in the history of the school. Three motor cars brought boys up from Vancouver and from points.

From Friday morning until Tuesday afternoon the school was the scene of a happy gathering that played games against the school of today, and talked over the well fought games of other days.

Saturday and Monday were marked by cricket matches in which the Old Boys opposed the School First Eleven, and in which the Old Boys went down in decisive defeats.

Crass hockey, tennis and badminton were played with enthusiasm, old scenes were revisited, and the general opinion was that this eagerly anticipated event had more than fulfilled all expectations.

Local Lineman Is Electrocuted

William Bradford Is Victim Of Fatal Accident At Armstrong—Force Of 33,000 Volts Causes Almost Instant Death—Witnesses State Deceased Man's Head Came Within Few Inches Of Overhead Wire While At Work On Pole

ARMSTRONG, B.C., June 3.—Death visited Armstrong with most alarming suddenness shortly after noon on Friday last, when William Bradford, of Vernon, lineman and meter reader for the West Canadian Hydro Electric Corporation, was accidentally electrocuted while in the discharge of his duties at the sub-station in the east end of the city.

Leaving Vernon at about ten o'clock on Friday morning, foreman Grant, accompanied by linemen Bradford and Sam Baxter, proceeded to Armstrong to carry out certain routine tasks at the sub-station.

At twelve o'clock the men quit work for lunch, and had returned to the sub-station before one o'clock. As some of the afternoon's work involved the tightening of connections and checking over of transformers, it was necessary to open a switch that would remove all current from the parts to be handled. This was done by the foreman and the men proceeded to work. Bradford, equipped with climbers and safety belt, went up the post at the south west corner of the station to continue the work of the morning, while Grant and Baxter remained on the ground and worked with the transformers.

The opening of the switch did not affect the current in the overhead wires. In order to shut off this current it would be necessary to throw a switch in Vernon that would cut off all power from Armstrong, Enderby and Salmon Arm. As the work in hand did not require hazardous approach to these live wires, it was unnecessary to interfere with the current.

Having completed his portion of the work with the transformers, Baxter went up the north west corner post to tighten bolts at that point.

He was just about to start work when both he and Grant were startled by a loud crackling sound such as accompanies the burning of a powerful arc light. Looking in the direction of Bradford they saw that he had unhooked the safety belt that had held him in position as he worked on the post, and had stepped out on a beam which supports a series of lightning arresters.

These are of metal and carry no current except when performing their function of grounding a charge of lightning. Bradford's right arm had come in contact with the nearest of these, either by accident or by way of support as he stood on the beam. Why he had stepped out on the beam will never be known. His work did not resume. (Continued on Page 9, Col. 5)

ELIMINATION OF THE COARSE FISH NOW COMMENCED

Carp, Squawfish, and Suckers Being Taken From Creek Between Lakes

Elimination of coarse fish is the object of a fish trap installed on May 22, in the creek which connects Woods Lake and Duck Lake, between Vernon and Kelowna. Up until Tuesday last through the use of this trap 160 carp, 170 squawfish and 1072 suckers were caught and destroyed. This trap is supervised by George Gartrell, fishing officer of Summerland, and on Tuesday night and Wednesday morning he visited it again.

The fish ladder has been closed in the Okanagan river at the dam where the Oliver project takes the water. The reason for this action, says Mr. Gartrell, is that the Washington state authorities have put cutfish in the Columbia river. It is believed to be better policy to keep the dam closed and to leave it open and regret their appearance and the toll they take of sporting fish.

Questions of this nature will be discussed by sportsmen at the Interior Fish and Game Clubs annual meeting to be held in Vernon on June 20.

START WORK ON OLIVER AIRPORT

OLIVER, B.C., June 1.—Work on the airport to be built at Oliver by the Department of National Defense started several days ago with the arrival of Assistant Engineer J. E. Spurling and a gang of eighteen men. The temporary camp has been completed, and construction of the permanent camp of frame buildings is to be commenced at once.

The camp will be large enough to accommodate 125 or more men, and it is expected the work of building the airport will require fifteen months or two years. Site of the proposed airport is half a mile south of Oliver on the east side of the main highway.

VERNON ENTRANTS WIN HONORS AT MUSICAL FESTIVAL

Orchestral and Piano Open Championships Awarded To Local Artists

KELOWNA, B.C., June 4.—The centre of interest these last few days in Kelowna has been the Tenth Annual Okanagan Musical Festival held in the Scour Hall, with Professor Arthur Colingwood, of the University of Saskatchewan, Saskatoon, as adjudicator in the music and elocution classes, and Mrs. E. T. B. Thomas, of Salmon Arm, for the dancing classes.

The rendering of "Ballet Russe" by the Vernon Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Sidney H. Darvall, on the Friday evening's program was one of the most successful performances of the Festival and delighted the musical sense of the adjudicator exceedingly, in awarding the orchestra premier honors. Symphony orchestras, the adjudicator said, are real business assets to any community, and such a fine aggregation of musicians was a great credit to their city and community.

An outstanding Vernon winner was Miss Marjorie Rolston, who captured the pianoforte open contest, climaxing four years of successful competition in the festival. She is the pupil of Mrs. R. Gillespie. The adjudicator awarded her excellent marks, 82-85, with Arthur H. Williams, of Kelowna, receiving 82-83, and Nina Nightwander, of Penitence, 80-81.

In the dancing classes, Miss Dorothy Wyatt, and Miss Gertrude Ryall were prominent and successful entrants.

The Scottish Daughters Chorus, Vernon, also came in for great praise for their excellent renderings of the three numbers chosen by the adjudicator from the four test pieces. Mrs. G. D. Cameron's Choir, Kelowna, a larger group than the former, however, carried off the honors with only a few points in advance of the Scottish Daughters.

The Solo Singing Class, with two competitors, was an intensely interesting competition, Maybelle C. Robertson, of Vernon, coming a close second to Cyril S. Mossop, Kelowna.

Gertrude H. Robertson and Bunny Finch tied for first place in the Young Vocalist (Low Voice) competition. Maybelle C. Robertson's rendition of "The Meeting of the Waters" in the Folk Song competition, was given first place with a mark of 86.

Naturally by far the greatest number of awards went to the people of Kelowna and district by virtue of their having a much larger entry than centres to the north or south, however, competitors from both Vernon and Penitence held their own well throughout the competitions, and regret was frequently expressed in the small number taking part in the festival from Vernon.

OKANAGAN POLO TEAM DOES WELL AT KAMLOOPS

A team of polo enthusiasts from the North Okanagan led by H. E. Tulloh, of Westwood, and composed of Tommy Wilmot, Vernon, and E. Poole and Jim Allan, Armstrong, captured second place in the polo tournament at Kamloops on Saturday and Monday last, for possession of the Roper Cup, losing out in the final to a team from Calgary, 6-3. On Saturday the Okanaganists defeated the Kamloops Huskies 11-0 to gain the right to appear in the finals.

M.B.E. Award Is Conferred On Mrs. M.T. Chapman of This City

The conferring of the Member of the Order of the British Empire award upon Mrs. Mary Tupper Chapman, of this city, as announced in the King's Birthday list, has been accompanied by a feeling of pride throughout the city at the honor that has been paid a resident here, and the recipient during the past few days has been receiving the warm congratulations of her many friends in Vernon and throughout the valley.

The award follows Mrs. Chapman's many years of effort in philanthropic and charitable fields particularly, and is in token of the prominent interest she has always shown in problems in her own community, or over the wider area of the valley.

A grand-daughter of Sir Charles Tupper, and the daughter of Major-General D. R. Cameron, O.M.G., she graduated with honors in mathematics from McGill University and later pursued medical studies in Edinburgh, but following her marriage to E. P. Chapman, a member of the Indian Civil Service, she went to India to reside, and Mr. Chapman was later to become a High Court Judge in India, and upon his retirement in 1918 the family came to Vernon, and since that time Mrs. Chapman has become an ever more interested resident of the district, occupying herself with a great many worth-while undertakings.

Her only son, Ted, has just recently graduated from McGill University, and her two daughters, Miss Agatha, and Miss Nancy, are in Montreal and in London, England, respectively. Judge Chapman passed away in 1923.

B.C. Must Have New Deal Soon

Hon. K. C. MacDonald Tells Rotarians Here That Readjustment As Between East and West Is Imperative—Trade Conditions Are One-Sided And Gravely Affected By Various Factors, Particularly Dumping Practices

Pointing to the fact that British Columbia has an adverse balance of trade with Eastern Canada to the extent of about ninety million dollars annually, the Hon. Dr. K. C. MacDonald, in addressing members of the Rotary Club in this city at the luncheon meeting Tuesday in the National Hotel, made the assertion that some readjustment "is to develop as it should develop, considering the multitude of advantages with which it has been endowed."

In an address that was vigorous and outspoken, though informal in tone, the minister made frequent reference to British Columbia's great potentialities, contrasting these with difficulties, particularly in the field of trade, which have for a lengthy period exercised an adverse effect on progress.

"I sometimes really wonder," he remarked at one point, "if Eastern Canada really understands that British Columbia is a part of the Dominion."

People of this province, he pointed out, purchase in the east in well-protected markets and pay higher prices in supporting such markets. But the west, generally, does not receive compensating consideration.

The problem of this province cannot be summed up as one of finances entirely, though this is a problem of magnitude. He emphasized the importance of trade considerations.

B.C. for example must find some way of meeting the situation by which other provinces dump agricultural products within its borders. If it is con-

PARTIAL AUTONOMY MAY BE GRANTED TO CERTAIN DISTRICTS

This Is the Statement H. B. Homersham Made At Robson Last Thursday

Partial autonomy may be granted to certain defined Kootenay districts, such as Grand Forks and Creston, in respect of the marketing of vegetables under the control and authority of the B.C. (Interior) Vegetable Marketing Board, so H. B. Homersham, a Board member, informed the delegates to the West Kootenay Farmers' Institutes' convention at Robson last Thursday. This would mean, he explained, that the growers in such districts would set up their own marketing machinery under the general supervision of the Board.

"We may even hand over the levies to you," Mr. Homersham said. The problem of the itinerant peddlers and the Doukhobors. "Control these and the carlots into Nelson and your whole deal will be stabilized," he asserted.

Mr. Homersham said that the Board had wide powers and was putting these into operation with the result that it would have as near price control as it was possible to get. It had designated its agency, the Interior Vegetable Marketing Agency Limited, and "nothing could get out except with the permission of this agency."

Shipping firms were given certificates of appointment but these certificates can be withdrawn at a moment's notice.

The grower-shipper was not being recognized by the agency.

"This Marketing Board is your Board," he said. "We are your servants and we are trying to look after your business so that you will make some money. We want your support in handling a very difficult situation."

Mr. Homersham cited the onion deal as showing what the Board could do to improve the growers' position. This was the Board's first test and it had really accomplished something. The delivered price in New Zealand had been fixed at $51 which meant that the Okanagan grower would get $20 and the New Line grower, with a lower freight charge, would net $21.00. The Board was looking for an export of 3,000 tons at a price which would give the grower $5 a ton more than he received last year.

"Just now we are stepping into the stabilizing of the lettuce deal," Mr. Homersham concluded.

HUGHES SHIPS FIRST STRAIGHT CAR LOAD OF ASPARAGUS TO COAST

KELOWNA, B.C., May 29.—The first straight car load of asparagus ever to be loaded in the Okanagan Valley, or in British Columbia, left Kelowna last week end. The asparagus was grown and packed by J. W. Hughes and was of very good quality. Two tons of the product was shipped to Vancouver, and will be used for soup making and the rest will be sold to the retail trade through the Water Street wholesalers. While many nearly straight cars of asparagus have been shipped from the valley in the past, there has previously always been some other product with them, and this occasion marks the first that a full car of asparagus has gone to market from any B.C. point.

BARRAT CHARGES SOME SHIPPERS CHESELLED

G. A. Barrat, member of the Tree Fruit Board, charged at a meeting of tree fruit growers at Nelson last Friday that there had been "chiselling" on the part of some shippers in respect of the 1934 apple crop marketing and he claimed that if there had not been this alleged "chiselling," the prices would have been maintained at the levels set by the Board.

Chairman W. E. Haskins and O. W. Hembling also attended this meeting which appointed C. S. Squires of Robson, delegate to the forthcoming Kelowna convention, and also representative of the Kootenays to the Tree Fruit Board. Mr. Squires is a director of the B.C.F.G.A.

Messrs. Haskins, Barrat and Hembling reviewed the operations of the Board and the representations which had been made to Ottawa for changes in the plan.

Mr. Haskins returned to Penticton after the Nelson meeting and Mr. Hembling and Mr. Barrat went on to Creston to meet the growers there.

VERNON TENNIS PLAYERS WIN AT OKANAGAN CENTRE

Representative Team From Country Club Captures 15 Matches In Play

Goldie.

Some good matches were played in spite of rain which interrupted play for about an hour, the result being 15-9 matches in favor of Vernon.

Mr. and Mrs. Fallow have returned from a trip to the coast and Mrs. Fallow has her mother, Mrs. Malpass, from Armstrong, staying with her.

Mrs. Gray has returned home after a few months' stay with her daughter, Mrs. Seaman, of Seattle.

INDUSTRIAL PROGRESS OF B.C. IS REVIEWED

A copy of the annual commercial and industrial number of the Journal of Commerce has been submitted this week along with the regular journal. A comprehensive picture of the industrial and commercial development of the coast province during the last year, and the prospects for 1935 is provided in the feature article covering operations in the major branches of business and industry in British Columbia.

The array of advertising, illustrated with large cuts, is striking. B.C. building developments are outlined, and prospects for the industry in this province to enlarge are very bright. Changes in building practices are shown, pressure of growing permit demands is encouraging, the need for new buildings is pointed out, one's attention is drawn to the new stimulus in residential building, the activity of the B.C. lumber industry is told, that trade extension work in regard to leading Pacific exports and showing results is brought out, and the bustling activity of the port of Vancouver is regarded as pointing to an increase in industrial activity.

There is little likelihood that the return of prosperity will come with a rush, but there seems every indication that continued advancement toward business normalcy is the current trend. This issue of the Journal of Commerce, the second annual number, is designed to provide comprehensive information on the business life of British Columbia.

OBITUARY

James Gordon

LUMBY, B.C., June 3.—The death occurred on Thursday of last week of James L. Gordon, of Mabel Lake, in the Vernon Jubilee Hospital, at the age of 71.

It is twelve years ago since Mr. and Mrs. Gordon with their family took up residence on their ranch at Mabel Lake, where they were both well known for their generous hospitality, taking a great interest in the local affairs of their community.

About a year ago Mr. Gordon's wife died, and Mr. Gordon had always felt his loss very keenly.

The deceased leaves three sons and one daughter, for whom much sympathy is felt in their sorrow.

The funeral service was held on Saturday, in Vernon, by the Rev. H. Pearson, of Oyama, after which the body was sent to the old home in Sunderland, Ontario, for burial.

The Rev. G. J. Coulter White

SUMMERLAND, B.C., June 3.—The death of the Rev. G. J. Coulter White occurred on Sunday night at the Summerland Hospital. The late Mr. White was one of Summerland's most loved and respected citizens, and his death causes much regret. He was Pastor Emeritus of the Baptist Church here. He is survived by his wife, one daughter, Mrs. Walter Wright, of Summerland, and one son, Gilbert, of Chicago.

George Rawsthorne

OYAMA, B.C., June 3.—The death occurred on Friday morning at the Vernon Jubilee Hospital, of George Rawsthorne, the thirteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Rawsthorne, of Oyama.

Although the boy had not been well for the last month and had been in the hospital for about a week, his condition was not considered serious, and his sudden death early Friday morning, due to a hemorrhage, came as a great shock.

The funeral was held on Sunday afternoon from Campbell's Undertaking Parlors, with the Rev. H. Pearson officiating.

Oyama extends to Mr. and Mrs. Rawsthorne and family its sympathy in their loss.

Capt. William C. Bate

OLIVER, B.C., June 1.—The funeral of the late Capt. William Cornwallis Bate, who died in the Penticton Hospital on Saturday morning, May 25, was held in Oliver at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 29. The body was interred in the Oliver cemetery with Masonic rites. Masonic brethren, and great war veterans from Penticton and Oliver, as well as many friends and acquaintances, attended.

Capt. Bate died as the result of shrapnel wounds received in the great war. He was 71 years of age, and an old timer of this district. For some years he has been living on his ranch near Vaseaux Lake, several miles north of Oliver. Surviving are his wife; three sons, Vincent, Beauchamp, and Allyn; a daughter, Ellen; all residing at home, and a brother, Ernest Bate, of Penticton.

GOLD DIGGING POPULAR SPORT ALL DOWN AGES

Latest Version Is Coming To Theatre Here Soon

Gold digging has been a popular sport throughout the history of mankind and womanhood.

The technique has changed from time to time but the general idea of making the men pay and pay is the same.

"The daughters of Pharaohs had their own system when Greece was young. They simply sat on a mythological rock and sang ditties. Cleopatra reclined on a barge and looked coy. Pompeidion carried a fan and dropped her heavy-lidded eyes.

"Gold Diggers of 1935" the First National Production which comes to the Empress Theatre on Friday and Saturday, June 7 and 8, introduces another idea into gold digging.

There is a woman in it who does the paying, while the gold-digging is done by three men.

"Gold Diggers of 1935" stars Dick Powell with Gloria Stuart, Adolphe Menjou, Hugh Herbert, Frank McHugh, Alice Brady, Grant Mitchell, Glenda Farrell, Winifred Shaw, Dorothy Dare, and Ramon Novarro, dancers.

High Lights and Low Downs

By R. W. B. Lowe

Gold! With this one word visions of golden nuggets, dragon like veins of glittering metal and shining stacks of gold coins are conjured up before the eyes of the imaginative reader. This one word has represented the goal of most of the earth's population since time began, and in the past few years it has become increasingly familiar to the residents of this province. There is hardly a square mile in the province that does not boast of a mine of some description, whether it is a great producing mine, with busy mill, or merely a hole in the ground, leading to nowhere. It is from these pits dug into the earth that the answer to the hard times of the last few years has come. British Columbia, by means of her mines, has been able to weather the depression better than any other part of the Dominion. True, things have not been any too rosy, but they have not been as bad, by a good deal, as they would have been if British Columbia had not had her mines to tide her over the crisis. Figures recently made public show this very clearly. In five years, Canada's agricultural exports dropped $200,000,000, while in those same years, the lean one of 1929 to 1934, exports of gold, silver and kindred metals jumped $34,000,000. Nor were gold and silver the only metals that aided in the recovery. The base metals, and others, such as platinum, played an equally important part. During the lean years of world wide economic distress, Canada sold more of these metals abroad than she did in boom years. From the mines, then, has come Canada's answer to hard times, and already this answer, flung in the teeth of the depression, has begun to have its effect.

Conservative Conservatives

The Young Conservatives of the province of Alberta, 150 in number, have banded themselves together, and with one voice have announced that they are ready to unite with and support any party, no matter what its political views, as long as it is opposed to the party of Social Credit which seems assured of a majority in the next election. How the Liberals must be chuckling. The situation must be really serious if the proud old Conservative party is ready to talk turkey with all comers in order to prevent a new party breaking in on the political plums of the province.

Sympathy for the Young Conservatives of Alberta is something lacking when consideration is given to the fact that this party has no solution for the economic distress the province is in, yet will place every obstacle possible in the way of a new party that believes it has a way out. The Social Credit fans may not have the remedy to the world's troubles, no one knows whether their theories are applicable to modern business, least of all the Young Conservatives, but at least they are trying. If the young Conservatives had anything to offer their province they wouldn't have to worry about the Social Credit party or anyone else. The young Conservatives may well find that such a move as they have just made will do more than anything else to imperil their party at the election which they regard with so much apprehension.

Give Him a Chance

Hitler, much talked about "head man" of the new Germany, after making what appeared to be some very inflammatory utterances, is waving the olive branch of peace, and so cynical has post war Europe become of Teutonic peace moves, that no one will have very much to do with him along these lines. It seems, however, that the time has come to give him a fair chance. After all, since none of the other signatory powers of the Treaty of Versailles kept its provisions, it is foolish to expect Germany to do so. No nation can be expected to remain weak indefinitely merely because an earlier generation of her statesmen happened to wage a foolish and losing war. The Chancellor has stated that he will disarm Germany to the last machine gun provided that other powers will do the same. It would be hard to ask for more. It is now up to the rest of the world, the world that has been pointing an accusing finger at Germany for so many years, to do something to prove its good faith. If the world is prepared to take his statements at their face value, and give the "forgotten man" a chance, the results may well be all that could be hoped for.

BENNETT REFORMS MAY NEED CHANGE IN B.N.A. ACT

Committee Appointed To Study Any Amendments And To Report On Them To House

OTTAWA, Ont., May 30.—Early in the present sessions of Parliament, when the question of constitutionality was so much to the fore in the Prime Minister's reform measures, Mr. Woodsworth brought in a resolution to appoint a special committee to go into the matter of amendments to the British North America Act, to report on the most advisable methods of procedure. The resolution was approved and the committee appointed but their final report has not yet been presented to the House.

Perhaps the most outstanding suggestions to the committee were made by Dr. Arthur Beauchesne, clerk of the House of Commons. No one would think, seeing this solemn little man moving silently in and out of the House in his flowing black gown, that he is quite a noted man indeed, and author of a little book of rules by which, along with May's Parliamentary Guide, the proceedings in the House are governed. Dr. Beauchesne has not in any discussion of procedure the Speaker is likely to say, reading from a little book in his hand, "Beauchesne says" so and so in clinching an argument for or against certain decisions, and what "Beauchesne says" usually admits of no appeal.

Dr. Beauchesne thinks the best way to amend the B.N.A. act is to write a new constitution for Canada, drafted by an assembly representative of the whole people, and when its provisions are approved the British parliament should be requested to repeal the British North America Act.

Dr. Beauchesne suggests that such an assembly should consist of one-quarter of the membership of the House of Commons, the Senate and the Provincial legislatures, and be representative of all vocations. The assembly should meet at Winnipeg and must be a coalition conference, strictly non-partisan. The conference should deal with such matters as reducing membership in House of Commons, election instead of appointment of senators, and various questions of jurisdiction over which there is at present much diversity of opinion. Once the Federal and Provincial authorities agree on such a draft constitution it should be officially approved by each province by a two-thirds vote, and by the Dominion, then receive Royal assent. The same procedure should be required in any subsequent amendment. One point to be decided would be whether Canada would change her designation from Dominion to Kingdom of Canada.

Dr. Beauchesne also recommended that Ottawa should become a federal district of 50 square miles but this not to carry disfranchisement as in Washington. He was in favor of establishing a national University here for especially brilliant students who would be selected and financed by the various provinces.

At this late date in the session a report from this committee will scarcely receive much discussion or be acted upon but it is at least a definite step in an increasingly important question which must soon be given consideration.

It is ignorance and false belief, based on a material sense of things, which hide spiritual beauty and goodness.—Mary Baker Eddy.

Lullaby Supper

LITTLE children, tired with play and nearly ready for bed, should have light, nourishing, easily digested foods for their evening meal.

Kellogg's Corn Flakes, eaten before bedtime, help children sleep. Scientific tests conducted in a large university have proven this. Children who had Kellogg's for supper slept 30% more soundly than those who ate heavier foods.

Kellogg's restore energy without overloading small stomachs. They're pleasant, appetizing. Children love their crispness and delicious flavor.

All grocers sell Kellogg's Corn Flakes. Ready to serve from the WAXTITE bag inside the red-and-green package. Economical. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

Forest Industries Have Promise Of Permanency For This Province Provided Two Conditions Remain

Yield Province Direct Royalty
Four Times As Great As Any Other Natural Resource

"In these days of controversy and much difference of opinion over the causes of our economic ills, we can at least all agree that a wise development of our natural resources will do much to promote prosperity in the province," said E. C. Manning, Assistant Chief Forest Officer for B.C., in his address to a combined meeting of the Board of Trade and the Kinsmen Club in the Board of Trade rooms, Monday evening. "Upon the Forest Service rests the responsibility of the management of the province's greatest natural resource."

The confidence of the public is the greatest asset any government service can have. To the Forest Service, it is not merely an asset, it is a necessity. We can carry out our work effectively only if we receive the co-operation of the public, stated Mr. Manning. We should therefore keep it informed.

Two-thirds of British Columbia is barren land, or won't grow anything but alpine and scrub plants. Less than one-fifth of the productive land is suitable for agricultural development. The rest will never grow anything more valuable than trees. Every intelligent man and woman is surely interested in the use to which we put four-fifths of our province. This is not a manufacturing province. The area suitable for farming is a limited one. It is that area suitable only for forest growth that has in the past paid a large share of the province's bills, declared Mr. Manning.

Our timber industries have given the province in direct royalty, an average of three million dollars per year, during the last ten years. This is over four times the amount contributed by the next most important natural resource. Forest industries have been the largest industrial employers of labor in the province. Every citizen must have been benefited by this industry, either directly or indirectly.

These forest industries seem to hold for us a promise of permanency, provided two conditions continue to exist. First, that we have the forests from which to obtain our supplies, and second, the markets in which to sell our products. This province's stand of timber represents nearly half of the Dominion's total supply, and three-quarters of the timber of sawlog size. However, the determining factor of accessibility limited the quantity now available for the market. This factor of accessibility in turn, depends on the market price at the time. Naturally, the higher the price, the further back, the lumbermen can go.

The forest industry is definitely on an upward trend. To date, we are twenty per cent. over the same period last year. Renewed building activities on the prairies, a probable adjustment of the U. S. tariff on the railway road replacement of ties are all contributing to this increase in activity.

The value of our forests for game, as a regulator of the water flow, as a playground for ourselves, and as an attraction to the tourists, may someday equal that as a source of supply for our timber industries. It is an asset worth spending money on. During the last year, it has furnished the Forest Department with ten times the revenue which has been spent upon it.

The forest is a crop, not a mine to be exploited and left useless. The laws governing reproduction and tree growth are many and varied. The intelligent study of them requires long years of training. The fact that we are dealing with a crop that takes 100 years to grow, adds to the difficulties. The greatest problem confronting the forestry service is the forest fires. There is no part of the work so little understood by the public, and on which the department receives so much criticism. All services incurred by the service in fire-fighting are paid out of the Forest Protection Fund. This fund is contributed by the owners of certain timber lands, and by the government, and is solely for the purpose of protecting forest values.

Forest protection is divided into three phases: prevention, detection, and suppression. Prevention aims at fewer fires, early detection is vital, and the essence of suppression is speed in getting to the fire and effective action on it. But the sole responsibility for forest protection does not rest upon the forest service. The public have a definite obligation which they are not fully realizing. Last year, campers and smokers left 187 fires burning behind them.

Important Stands of Timber
G. P. Melrose, of Kamloops, who is the officer in charge of this district, spoke for a few minutes after Mr. Manning. He pointed out that the Vernon and Lumby districts are the most important in regard to the timber in the whole area between Kamloops and the border, and between Field and North Bend. The yellow pine is the most important in the Okanagan Valley, and is used for the manufacture of boxes for the fruit industry.

Mr. Melrose showed that the fruit industry depended upon the timber areas, not only for the boxes, but to insure a steady uniform water supply throughout the season. He stated that there was enough white pine to last forever, if it had the proper management and protection.

A general discussion of the subject took place after these two talks. The question of the cleaning up of the debris left by pole and tie companies was brought up. Mr. Manning pointed out that although this formed a dangerous firetrap, the present price of lumber did not permit the added expense incurred if destruction was made obligatory on the part of the lumbermen. This, he showed, was up to the public, and if the public would use the proper amount of discretion, and care, there would be no danger from these tree tops, and branches which are left, and instead, they would rot and form food material for the coming growth of young trees. He said that it was lamentable that the people who use the forests for pleasure, should start so many fires.

The question of the training of young men was brought up. Mr. Manning told of the policy of the government in sending out young men to gain first hand experience in the woods, and it was a small scale of the United States policy of the O.C.C.

CODLING MOTH TO BE EXCLUDED FROM COLDSTREAM AREA

Municipal Council Passes By-law To Ward Off Danger of Infestation

In order to protect the Coldstream Municipality from the danger of Codling-Moth infestation, the Municipal Council recently passed a by-law embodying the following regulations:

- (1) That in the case of any fruit being hauled to any place throughout the municipality, the containers shall be left outside the municipality, but may be returned if emptied immediately at the point of delivery, provided a permit for this has been first obtained from the municipal office.
- (2) That no containers other than new boxes or shooks shall be brought into the Municipality except between the first day of July and the fifteenth day of July in each and every year, except by special permit for vegetables only.
- (3) That only packed fruit shall be permitted to be brought into the municipality for assembly and for immediate shipment.
- (4) Penalty: $50 and costs for each infraction, together with cancellation of permit.

First action toward implementing the present by-law came last December when at a meeting in the School House to consider the danger of infestation, it was agreed that the present Council should be requested to pass a by-law and a committee was formed to draft such regulations. The Coldstream Council has appointed Major M. V. McGuire and James B. Kidston, Commissioners, to whom or to the municipal office any complaints should be referred.

THE TRUTH ABOUT THE DEPRESSION

Brig.-General Burnham, of Halcyon Hot Springs, To Tour Under Welfare League

ensemble with matching accessories. The happy couple then left on a honeymoon trip by motor to southern points. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Dalglish will make their home in Kamloops.

Research experiments have shown that the original quality, flavour and colour of honey in storage can best be maintained at a temperature of 40 degrees Fahrenheit, or lower, and that rapid deterioration takes place at 60 degrees Fahrenheit. If the temperature is low and constant, extracted honey can be stored indefinitely without change of color or flavor and without fermentation.

CAPITALISM BEING DESTROYED BY NEW MODERN MACHINERY

Declares Frank Roberts, In Addressing C.C.F. Meeting At Empire Hall

"The very thing that created Capitalism and Capitalism's wealth, the machine, is the very thing that is destroying the system," declared Frank Roberts, of Vancouver, a socialist lecturer and thinker, in addressing a meeting held in the Empire Hall on Wednesday of last week under the auspices of the local C.C.F. Club. Mr. Roberts' address was entitled, "Capitalism and the World Crisis."

The speaker dealt for the most part with the advance of civilization, which he declared, began with the discovery of iron, and he gave an exhaustive review of the progress of science in the last 200 years. Mr. Roberts stated that under capitalism, the world experienced cycles of depression and prosperity. The first depression began in the 1830's and was followed by prosperity and then depression in the years 1818, 1849, 1890, 1907, 1913, and finally the great depression of 1929.

"After 1929, the Capitalists said not to worry as everything would be all right, but the Socialists knew that this was not really the case and 1929 marked the collapse of the Capitalist system," remarked Mr. Roberts. "The Capitalists have now abandoned hope and the Socialists are the only optimists."

"Quack Doctors" The speaker also scored what he termed the "quack doctors" who are trying to heal Capitalism such as the "Douglassites," the Gerry McGeeites, and the followers of Huey Long and Father Coughlin. There are more and more of these doctors coming up trying to restore the old order, but no one knows how to bring back Capitalism, he declared.

"The new birth of Socialism has already taken place. It was born in 1917 during the Great War," stated Mr. Roberts.

Dealing with the causes of the depression, Mr. Roberts stated that followers of certain social creeds blamed the international bankers for the depression and they said that if the banks were controlled prosperity would come again. However, the speaker declared that not only the banks but industry as a whole had to be socialized and the one could not be done without the other. "If we abolished all debts tomorrow, it would not make the slightest difference as we would have to get right into debt again."

MUSICAL CONCERT AT PENTICTON IS GREATLY ENJOYED

PENTICTON, B.C., June 1.—Mrs. Lewis Smith sponsored a concert of outstanding excellence on May 27, which delighted a good audience in the Ellis Street Hall. The performers had apparently costumed themselves to harmonize with the profusion of lilac blossoms used to decorate the stage, and the effect was extremely pleasing.

Mrs. Lewis Smith played a violin solo, "Scene de Ballet," by DeBeriot, with much brilliance. Assistant artists were Cyril Mossop and Mrs. Elsie MacCleave. The latter, always a favorite with Penticton audiences, was enthusiastically encored in both her numbers. Of great interest were four pieces rendered by the "ensemble class," the young members of which infected the audience with their own very obvious enjoyment. Other pupils of Mrs. Lewis Smith played Kelowna Musical Festival items.

REVELSTOKE XI DROPS TWO GAMES

Two cricket games were played in Vernon last week-end, the first on Sunday between Revelstoke and the Vernon City team, won by the latter by runs, the scores being 99 to 43.

Hodgson, the Vernon captain, had the distinction of being the first player to hit a six out of the new ground. Owen Karn, playing substitute for the visitors, made 14 runs for the Revelstoke and was not out at the end of their short innings of 43.

On Monday the Canadian Legion eleven played a closer game with the Revelstoke team, defeating the visitors by 16 runs, with scores of 112 and 96. The Legion's chief contributors were Eddie Openshaw with 28, Jack Blankley 34, and Dunkley 15. For Revelstoke Sadler was highest score with 20, and "extras" accounted for another 24.

RETAIN THE MARKETING LEGISLATION

NOBODY wants to lose the marketing legislation. The members of the Free Fruit Board and the Commercial Shippers Association are standing up for it. But what is the legislation? And what is it for?

Members of the Free Fruit Board think they would not mind it, and may not even think it is binding on their own lives. The marketing legislation is the marketing legislation. The marketing legislation is the marketing legislation.

This is the heart of the matter. The members of the Free Fruit Board are on a tour of the area which they do not control. They are on a tour of the area which they do not control. They are on a tour of the area which they do not control.

The Free Fruit Board appointed less than a year ago, is on trial. In many respects the Board has not had a fair opportunity to show what could be achieved. It was named too late in the season. To a great extent it had to plow. The man selected for the position was new. The task was a gigantic one. Then the Board members painted no way a picture of the results that would be achieved. The prices are a disappointment. There are heart-aches, heart-aches and empty pockets. Members of the Board went to Ottawa to ask for changes in the scheme as suggested by the British Columbia Fruit Growers Association, and there asked for something more.

Until this happened there was no open opposition to the Board or its policies. But when the Commercial Shippers Association, that made or less food for the market, what would be the effect of an amendment to the legislation? They saw that they would not be able to take out of business without a fight. They did not object to the marketing legislation. They did not object to the marketing legislation. They did not object to the marketing legislation.

The damage was done by the members of the Board too late for a reply to be made at the meeting held in November the last Tuesday in May. At this meeting the members of the Board said much more than an unfavorable examination of the scheme and the effect of Mr. M. V. McGuire, whose stress for a position on that Board has been so strongly urged by this newspaper. They discussed in his past about all the things which are the attributes of a bad man. It is difficult to describe in the likeness painted the hard-working and efficient manager of the Board.

Until the members of the Board deal with the shipping system, and their own plans for shipping are outlined, it is difficult to arrive at conclusions. It has been established to the satisfaction of many that the Board's operations represent a step forward in the marketing of fruit. It is a step forward in the marketing of fruit. It is a step forward in the marketing of fruit.

It is a step forward in the marketing of fruit. It is a step forward in the marketing of fruit. It is a step forward in the marketing of fruit. It is a step forward in the marketing of fruit. It is a step forward in the marketing of fruit. It is a step forward in the marketing of fruit.

A Lesson In Democracy

It would make no difference to us whether the vote for compulsory voting in the egg business of Alberta were 50 per cent, or 55 per cent. We do not believe that it is a proper exercise of governmental power for anybody, whether a King or a President or a Commissioner or a Lord High Chancellor or a Provincial Egg Board to tell anybody else that he must not raise eggs, or that he must raise more than a certain number of eggs, or that he must not sell eggs except through a designated agency. If egg raisers are going to be told these things, and wheat raisers are told these things, and so on, then the day after tomorrow the following week, we can see to it that we enforce the total disappearance of all human liberty.

There is, however, one further point about the Alberta egg people and their 50 per cent vote for compulsory voting. And that is the fact that they are not even a majority of the persons affected by such control. After all, there is another party to the egg business besides the producers and the distributors. There is the citizen who eats eggs. He has an interest in egg control, and we do not see him as yet in the having been consulted about it. The Province's concern over the measure, said Mr. Parnes, rests on the dual grounds that the measure is regarded as an interference with the rights of the Parnes, Creditors' Arrangements Act. There is little likelihood of a national government guiding the destinies of Canada, the Hon. E. H. Stevens, former Minister of Trade and Commerce, declared last week in Toronto. The only manner in which a national government could come about, said Mr. Stevens, would be through the failure of the present administration to implement recommendations of the royal commission on mass buying and price controls.

Chief camp workers who have been in Vancouver for the past several weeks have decided to go to Ottawa to try to improve the conditions of the workers. It is expected that at least 1,000 men will leave B.C. and by the time they reach Ottawa, the numbers will probably have swelled to many thousands. Two parties will make the journey, one by the northern prairie provinces, and the other by the south route.

Canadian States officials have announced active negotiations for a proposed Canadian-American trade agreement will probably begin within the next few weeks. It was expected that several experts would be sent from Ottawa to assist W. D. Herridge, the Canadian Minister, who will conduct the negotiations for Canada.

Plans were being completed for the visit by the Hon. E. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, to the United States. The visit is expected to be a success. The visit is expected to be a success. The visit is expected to be a success.

SUPPLY OF CANNED FRUITS ON BRITISH MARKET INCREASES

Britain Has Ready Market For Quantities of Canned Apples

During 1934, there was a progressive increase in the supplies of canned apples from Canada to the British market over 1933, according to G. A. Newman, Assistant Canadian Trade Commissioner, writing in the Commercial Intelligence Journal. Mr. Newman's subject is regarding the number of canned-fruits imported to the United Kingdom.

Last year Canada supplied 154,401 cases of canned apples as compared with 117,789 cases in 1933. Shipments of apple pectin also showed a large increase, 27,401 cases and 3,348 barrels of this product being sold compared with only 6,122 cases the preceding year. Substantial gains were also recorded in sales of canned grapefruit, peaches, pears, plums, loganberries and other fruits.

Canadian canned apples were reported by the British trade to be of very good quality with the exception of some shipments from Nova Scotia. They are not, however, the equal of the supplies from Oregon, which continue to be standard on the British market.

According to Frederick Palmer, Canadian Trade Commissioner, the trade in gallon apples has been complicated in recent years with the introduction of a very good English pack. When first ready-to-market, the English apples were offered to the trade at at least 25 shillings a dozen and the output was small. Today, English apples are being sold at between 17 and 18 shillings compared with Canadian canned apples at 16 shillings. Washington-Oregon canned apples are in the market at a little more than 15 shillings landed, with only a little business being conducted.

The market for canned apples is of great importance in view of the position this fruit in any form occupies in the average English diet, and a great demand if always present from the public schools, institutions, hotels and caterers.

Mr. Palmer also states that as in the case with peaches from this country, tomatoes suffer from being considered too soft for such uses as frying.

Canadian shippers also dominated the United Kingdom market for fresh apples last year, with competing supplies drawn principally from New Zealand. However, the market for imported apples fell off largely toward the close of 1934, owing to the bumper domestic crop; total apples imports were only slightly more than half those of 1933. Out of 3,517 tons imported in 1935, Canada supplied 2,624 tons.

CORRESPONDENCE

Double Crossing

Editor, The Vernon News, Sir:-
Central selling, whether disguised as uniform or undisguised, has cost the growers tens of thousands of dollars, has disrupted the B.C.F.G.A., turned friendship into enmity and by placing compulsion on a pedestal has chucked competition into the gutter.

Even among ardent and sincere Central Sellers, there are many who, since the Natural Marketing Act came into being, are condemning the resolution for Unified Selling as having been a grave mistake. Personally and with equal sincerity I have consistently opposed Central Selling, sometimes single-handed, not because it would damage vested interests, but for the reason that it creates dissension and would build up a strong consumer resistance to regulated marketing.

Hence as Chairman of the Resolutions Committee, I wrote on receipt of the above resolution, deploring the unwarranted resurrection of a question fraught with so much danger and asked the Salmon Arm Committee to give the matter further consideration.

In a covering letter sent out by the Salmon Arm Committee to all locals dated Dec. 17, 1934, the following justification for their action is set out, namely:

"That it would appear that the Board is fully convinced that they have the power to inaugurate a grower controlled selling scheme, but they fear that any scheme originating with them would be a cause of dissension and a general dog fight."

Whether the Board considers the growers as dogs, I have no authority, other than the above for saying, but there is ample evidence that the Board did instigate the idea of Central Selling and are deliberately making Salmon Arm growers the goat for the present friction.

In confirmation of this I have before me the November issue of Country Life, relating an interview with the Tree Fruit Board under the caption "Chiseling is being suppressed by Fruit Board and Advisory Council."

This interview took place several weeks before the Salmon Arm committee sent out their resolution and more than two months prior to the Convention.

The Board states in this interview that should the newly set up Cartel fail to prevent chiseling:

"The Board will be forced to ask permission to exercise its power of designating an agency and some central selling or one desk scheme will have to be worked out so that the growers can get all the market is willing to pay for the product."

This statement was authorized by the Board as a whole in November, while the Salmon Arm resolution on December 17 and the Convention late in January of this year.

Yet, at Kelowna last Tuesday Messrs. Haskins, Hembling and Barrat lay the responsibility on the growers for instigating this movement and profess that they were simply and dutifully, and almost reluctantly trying to carry out a mandate given them.

In writing this I am not endeavoring to pick holes in the record of the Board which will see daylight soon. There are several items in the auditor's report which I have before me which need full explanation, before anyone has the right to repose full confidence in the members of the Board, but I for one refuse to let Messrs. Haskins, Barrat and Hembling get away with and spend the growers money in double crossing them.

Yours faithfully,
Allan D. Heriot.

Firm Price Plan Needed

Editor, The Vernon News, Sir:-
At the recent meeting in Kelowna, a question was asked regarding the possibility of establishing a firm price for the grower for his fruit.

In the opinion of very many growers in the Valley, no plan of market control or stabilization will be satisfactory which does not embody the principle of a firm price.

Mr. Haskins apparently agreed with this view when he stated in the meeting that anyone who could produce a workable firm price plan would be the savior of the industry. Mr. Haskins is sincere in this opinion. I wish to ask him why the present Tree Fruit Board have not been, during the past few months, working and planning to bring out such a workable firm price plan. Instead it would seem that they have been entirely obsessed with their Central Selling Schemes. Now that these latter have been rejected by Kelowna, the Board apparently have no feasible plan of control to suggest for the coming season, but, instead, they make guarded references to some newly discovered "powers" in the present scheme, and to some secret method of control which they refuse to disclose.

More than a year ago, when local and central "Plans Committees" were considering various plans for the stabilization of the industry, some three or four firm price plans were produced by various locals. I am familiar with one of these plans, which was originated by the Penticton Local Committee of which I was a member. I quite realize that none of these plans was perfect as it stood, but, most unfortunately, no great effort seems to have been made by the Central Plans Committee to consider these firm plans sympathetically or to take the best points from each, to formulate a plan which would work.

Instead, it would seem that a compromise plan was arrived at, and this compromise plan was the origin of the present scheme. Unfortunately the present scheme has not succeeded in giving any control which is of value to the grower. The Pool has admittedly been a farce from the point of view of controlling prices, and the Cartel, which did effect some slight control, was not part of the scheme as planned by the Board, but was suggested and made workable by the shippers.

Most growers feel that the one thing above all others which they need is an end of the evils of consignment of their fruit to the shippers. They feel that if they once have a scheme which will guarantee them a price for the orchard gate, they will be a long way on the road to a stabilized industry. In my opinion the Tree Fruit Board is to be severely criticized for having failed to give their attention to this type of scheme.

Mr. Haskins says that it would be easy to set a price for the grower's fruit, but hard to compel anyone to buy it. While I do not admit the soundness of this argument, I would like to point out that if it is true, it would apply equally to a Central Selling Scheme, since under a Central Selling Scheme how could the buyer be compelled to purchase the fruit?

From recent experience, it seems that straw votes and grower ballots are much in favor with the Tree Fruit Board. I think if a straw vote had been taken on the question of whether the growers are in favor of the working out of a firm price plan, the favorable response would have been overwhelming.

Personally I have for the past ten years been an advocate of the firm price principle. Not only have I advocated the principle, but I have practiced it in the sale of my own crop to packing houses. In all cases I received more than the man who allowed his fruit to go on consignment.

I suggest to the Board that they are unwilling that the growers should know that the board members drew a salary of $10 per day, plus expenses for services rendered during the preliminary organization work last year.

Further I suggest that the Financial Report contains a statement from the Auditor to the effect that there was no proper authorization for any such salary at that time.

Yours truly,
Andrew Ritchie.

"Abuse The Opposite Counsel"

Editor, The Vernon News, Sir:-

I had the privilege of listening to the addresses of the members of the Tree Fruit Board at their meeting here this week. The Chairman of the Board has evidently carried from this student days his belief in the old adage "if you have a bad case abuse the opposite counsel." The members of the Board demonstrated their ability to deliver eloquent and moving addresses; they did not produce evidence of their ability to get results.

They gave us the facts and the facts were interesting. The crop of 1934 was about twice as large as the crop of 1933. It was all sold. One surmised therefore that the demand was about equal to the supply and that marketing conditions were not entirely unfavorable. It was hinted that notwithstanding this situation the grower might expect the worst returns he had had for years. We were given to understand this was due to the shippers all of whom were cutting the prices. A lady asked for the names of the shippers who had cut prices and was informed the entire list of shippers had cut prices.

No information was given as to why "all" the shippers had cut prices and possibly it is unnecessary to repeat; it is because the grower persists in the childish policy of parting with his produce on consignment. The present deal is a "shipping" deal and not a "selling" deal.

In 1933 a wave of sanity ran through the growers when they adopted the policy, represented by the slogan "A cent a pound or on the ground." This policy united the growers as nothing has ever done before. It gave point to Mr. Haskins' classic remark "unity, unity, unity." Within a very few months they allowed themselves to be led into the old blind alley of central selling with the result that the fruit industry is split from Kamloops to Creston. Central Selling in all its variations has always split the industry and always will. The industry can

Licences for sets to receive wireless broadcasts have increased by 229,214 in the two years that the Australian Broadcasting Commission has had control.

This was disclosed by the annual report recently, and represents an increase of 78 per cent by comparison with the earlier system of granting the control of the national broadcasting system of charter to a company.

The weight of a loaf of bread in Canada is not standardized but it is regulated by municipal by-laws in the various provinces with the exception of Ontario. In Ontario the legal standard weight of a loaf is fixed at 24 and 48 ounces, except that in the case of a small bread the limit is fixed at 12 ounces.

Here's the way to earn your own C.C.M. in a few weeks

THE number of merchants, factories and offices having parcels and messages delivered by bicycle is growing all the time. In Toronto alone there are more than 10 thousand bicycles being used for delivery purposes. Openings are constantly occurring for boys with bicycles. A bicycle delivery job pays good money, and you can earn your own bicycle in a short time. Thousands of boys have earned their own bicycles.

Perhaps there is a merchant in your very neighborhood who needs a boy with a bicycle, or maybe there is one who is not delivering by bicycle, but who could be persuaded to do so if you pointed out to him that delivery by bicycle is far cheaper than delivery by motor truck or horse. Keep your eyes open and land a job. Most C.C.M. dealers will be glad to let you have a C.C.M. bicycle on easy payments.

Any C.C.M. Men's or Boys' model, with the addition of a parcel carrier, makes a good delivery bicycle. Because of the increased use of bicycles for delivery purposes, the front forks and front hubs of regular C.C.M. models have been made even stronger.

A well-loaded C.C.M. runs so smoothly, steers so easily, rides so comfortably that you can make better time on it. And C.C.M.'s durable enamelling and chromium-plate over 20-year nickelling stand all kinds of weather. There are other C.C.M. features, too, such as Straight Line Drive, Triplex Hanger, powerful C.C.M. Hercules Conster Brake, Frames of seamless steel tubing, Endrick Rims, rustless steel Spokes, Dunlop Fort or Dunlop Imperial Tires.

Aviation's Great Need Is To Have Effective Machines For Distance Flights Over Water

Multiple Engined Aircraft Do Not Have Safety Many People Imagine

By C. W. A. Scott

May 18 (by Air Mail).—At the time of writing Kingsford Smith is once more being hailed the hero of Australasia and the world. Only this time the applause is for his victory over death rather than for his conquest of some great ocean or an amazing dash over distance in a short period of time. It boils down to this. There is still a hazard in flights over great distances of water. There is still something very dramatic (not only from the public point of view, but also from the pilot's) in the vision of an aeroplane flying over vast stretches of sea.

The air is the aeroplane's sphere but it is recognized that aircraft have to land, and sometimes have to land through engine failures. When this latter means a precipitated landing it is just as well if the aeroplane is over some sort of place where a descent can be made with security. Therefore, the sea is no place over which an aeroplane should operate.

As things are at the present time, however, the point is that if a machine is to be used for journeys over seas it must be the right type—it must be capable of the task demanded of it. What is the right type?

Again, the obvious answer is, the flying-boat of sufficient seaworthiness to outride any storm through which it may either have to fly or to remain on the surface of the sea itself.

It is unfortunate that we have yet to produce in this country a type of flying boat that could be used to cover the distance of the Tasman Sea, with any load that could make the flight a practical (or financial) success.

"Pay Load" Essential

The days of the old spectacular flight are over. It is essential today to prove more than the fact that an aeroplane can cover great distances carrying one solitary letter. It is now a commercial necessity to carry at the same time as these great distances are flown, a good "pay load." This is sound commercial reasoning. But the flying boat, because of its extra weight, its slower speed, cannot yet comply with these conditions of things, and, therefore, is not used over any great distance.

America, again to the fore, has been trying out flying boats that will deal effectively with the question of both pay load and range and it will be most interesting to see what ultimately comes from her experiments.

The North Atlantic is America's goal—to develop the right types of flying boats to cover the distance from Newfoundland to Ireland. There may have to be bases, seadromes they are called, at which these boats may touch if in trouble, or for refuelling. But it is of paramount importance that a sound commercial type of flying boat should be produced immediately.

Aviation Still Spectacular

Aviation, unfortunately, still borders on the spectacular. Forgive my frequent use of this word. But there are two kinds of spectacle—there is the spectacular success of certain episodes in aviation's history, and there is the more unfortunate spectacle of horror and sometimes death.

But who can blame a man, if he has obviously taken all the precautions possible, if he cheats death, if he is then tempted to boast about it just a little?

"Smithy" is reported to have said on safe arrival at Mascot, "they cannot kill me." Now I claim that is tempting providence, and if I were to say it, I would say so with my fingers crossed and do all the hundred and one other things that the superstitious do if they find that inadvertently they have made a rash statement.

But the fact still remains—that "Smithy" arrived back at Mascot, and thank heavens, safely, and there can be no stigma attached to him for not reaching New Zealand successfully this time.

Engine Trouble Caused Failure

The Southern Cross must be one of the oldest machines, and certainly the most famous in the world. But people inclined to imagine that it very age must be a reason for this failure. We have in this country, and in Australia also, a band of people who style themselves Aircraft Inspection Department, or A.I.D. It is the job of these people to "test" each and every machine. It is not left merely to the discretion of the pilot who flies his machine to decide whether it is soundly airworthy or not, whether he shall "risk" his life in it. It is decided for him by A.I.D. that it is in perfect condition and therefore airworthy. "Risk" is a word aimed at people are trying to eliminate from aviation's vocabulary.

The whole cause of this failure of the Southern Cross to reach New Zealand was engine failure in one of its three engines. It is reported here that the machine was half way across the Tasman Sea. If this were so, why not continue the journey to New Zealand of a probable failure? Knowing very little of the conditions that existed over the Tasman at that time, but knowing "Smithy" fairly well, one realizes that in spite of it being an equal distance between the two countries, Australia was nearer, by virtue of weather conditions.

All Engines Must Work

The other two engines would not apparently hang on under the excessive load of doing the work of three. It is further reported that the centre engine "packed up." Now I cannot believe somehow that the one engine brought the Southern Cross home without at least a little aid from one of the others, but I know that "Smithy" and his crew did put up a magnificent show to reach the security of Mascot Aerodrome safely. They deserve, and will get, all their deserved congratulations. It is rather a pity though that this flight should not have been more successful. Will it have any effect on intending passengers along the Australian Empire route? I hope not, for it should not.

It has been part of the text of aircraft designers for years past that multiple engined aircraft preach safety, and that with a mere solitary power unit risks are being taken that three or more engines would eliminate. Here then there is this example of what a three engine machine can do. Two out of the three engines failed. What evidence, therefore, of the security of which multiple engined aircraft boast?

The longest sea crossing along the Australia route is from Port Darwin to Koepang. This, if my memory serves me right, is some 520 miles. But some 70 odd can be lopped off this by a slight deviation that embraces Bathurst Island, and leaves a mere 450 as compared with the 1,200 of the Tasman Sea crossing. Also, the aircraft used over this stretch of the water possess four and not three engines. But this flight of "Smithy's" over the sea to New Zealand must prove at least one thing, and it is as well to gather what plums we may from it. Namely this section of the Imperial route which is going to be completed very soon and added to the already existing route must be flown with the right type of aircraft, and that type is obviously one that can alight on the sea, and weather any conditions of wind and sea it may encounter.

It is about time we entered seriously the field of competition in the flying boat side of aviation from the commercial point of view.

BRITISH MARKET BY FAR LARGEST FOR OUR APPLES

Britain Took Over Two-Thirds Of All B.C. Exports This Year

Of a total of 1,808,439 boxes of apples of all varieties to leave British Columbia for other countries, Great Britain was by far the largest importer, taking 1,584,538 boxes, according to a circular issued by the B.C. Tree Fruit Board through the B.C. Apple Cartel, Kelowna, on May 25, and covering distribution for this year to May 21.

A good market for B.C. Apples was found in Egypt where 100,268 boxes were shipped. The third largest importer was the South American countries taking 40,268 boxes, followed by France with 25,526 boxes, South Africa with 20,845, the Scandinavian countries with 10,181, and with all other countries taking 20,803.

Over two-thirds of Great Britain's imports consisted of McIntosh and Jonathan apples, the totals being 515,520 boxes and 558,820 boxes respectively. Yellow Newtowns were next with 161,820 boxes closely followed by Delicious with 137,099 boxes.

The Egyptian market absorbed 65,568 boxes of Yellow Newtowns out of their total of 100,268 boxes all varieties. Next in popularity were the Winesaps with 18,475 boxes.

Over two-thirds of French imports consisted of Delicious apples with a total of 16,613 boxes and the bulk of the remainder were Yellow Newtowns, this market taking 6,292 of this variety.

Practically all of the total South American imports of 40,268 boxes were Delicious, 38,198 boxes of this variety being shipped.

A fire prevention expert recently stated that the loss on farms would be substantially reduced if a ladder were part of the equipment of every farm. A ladder kept in a convenient place makes any roof fire quickly accessible and provides the means for occasional inspection of chimneys and flues.

MUCH MACHINERY FOR LUMBER CAMP

Barnes Property in Trinity Valley Is To Be Well Equipped

TRINITY VALLEY, B.C., May 31.—The Rev. J. Brisco held an evening service at the school on Sunday last, during which he gave an account of the Synod at Penikese, and declared that he had been most vividly impressed by the christian character that manifested itself at that meeting, when many important matters of today were discussed, quite strongly.

W. G. Wiltshire, of West Vancouver, spent the week end in Trinity Valley. Mr. Wiltshire is a man who has travelled much around B.C. and he is a keen admirer of Trinity Valley.

Angus Woods, road foreman, has been up lately and the roads and especially the culverts are being fixed by local labor.

A diesel engine came up for the Barnes lumber camp this week. Six tons of machinery are being taken up the road past Pinzel's, this road having been graded and improved, when the government grader was up over our roads recently. This camp will turn out ties and lumber.

"BEHOLD MY WIFE" IS TENSE DRAMATIC FILM

Sylvia Sidney and Gene Raymond Have Starring Parts

"A unique story, cleverly turned, excellently acted, beautifully staged, is "Behold My Wife," Sylvia Sidney's new starring picture which comes on Monday and Tuesday, June 10 and 11, to the Empress Theatre.

Miss Sidney, who has played a variety of nationalities in her screen career, is this time cast as an Indian maiden and she brings all the charm, all the petite wistfulness to the role that audiences have come to expect of her. She is more than capably supported by Gene Raymond who plays opposite her. The cast includes those two favorites, H. B. Warner and Laura Hope Crews. In addition to Juliette Compton, Monroe Owsley and Charlotte Granville, among others.

Raymond is cast as a wealthy son of wealthy parents, madly in love with a girl from what his family regards as a "lower social stratum."

Brighten up with ALL-BRAN!

You've had days when you've felt discouraged and low. Nothing seems to go right. Frequently these dreary days can be traced to common constipation, due to lack of "bulk" in your meals.

This ailment may cause headaches and loss of energy. Correct it by eating a delicious cereal.

Laboratory research shows Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to aid elimination. ALL-BRAN also furnishes vitamin B and food-iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN resists digestion better than the fiber in fruits and vegetables. It is gentle, and often more effective. Isn't this natural food better than taking patent medicines—often harmful?

Two tablespoonsful of ALL-BRAN daily are usually sufficient. With each meal, in chronic cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Brighten days with ALL-BRAN! Get the red and green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.
